Victoria Grey light polished and dark brushed are high-end marble tiles featuring soft-grey and dramatic, deep-grey coloring respectively. This collection elegantly toes the line between a soft neutral color and classically bold marble veining and variations in tone.

Available in a variety of shapes and sizes, including planks, large format, mosaics, chevrons and coordinating trim and finishing pieces, this extensive collection makes it easy to create a cohesive look with detail and interest, all from the same marble material.

“Soft greys continue to be a popular color in all facets of home decor,” said Kevin McDaniel, vice president of merchandising at The Tile Shop. “The Victoria Grey collection satisfies this color trend with a high-end, superior-quality marble that will remain timeless in home designs due to its classic stone qualities.”

The Victoria Grey collection of wall and floor tiles from Rush River Stone is one of dozens of new and unique product collections being released this month and represents part of a commitment to offer the leading assortment in the industry.
